

4-days Master-Course with HOWARD CHOY, B. ARCH

Workshop Feng Shui Garden
Vienna: 11. – 14. April 2014, Vienna

AUTHENTIC FENG SHUI from a Chinese Master

This workshop starts with the principles of Chinese garden design, which is an important part of the cultural heritage of China. They stand for the obvious and natural design of rooms and facilities, they guide you through the landscape without cause, are straightforward in the large and generous in the small. These are rooms with a unique atmosphere, which show an interplay between the expected and surprise, narrow and wide, openness and limit – Yin and Yang. The Chinese garden designers were masters in the subtle manipulation of space.

Using a practical example you will learn, To implement the traditional teachings and principles in today's time with contemporary design elements and shapes in western gardens and in urban situations.

Our exciting training project: an existing garden will be expanded to the neighboring plot.

- How to combine these gardens?
- What impact does this have on the character of the existing house?

These are just some of the questions to which we will devote ourselves.

To connect theory and practice, beside our training object we are also visiting a Chinese garden in Vienna.

You are welcome to bring your own projects and we will use some as part of the practical training. Please inform Mrs. Feldhofer in time with the full documentation of the case, such as Google Earth images, onsite pictures, floor plans and directional reading.

Feng Shui practitioners of various schools are welcome!

We look forward to a challenging and hands-on workshop in the pleasant atmosphere of a manageable group (max. 14 participants). You will receive a certificate issued by the European College of Feng Shui (ECOFS) Berlin. Instruction is in English with German translation.
